Joshua Starr links with Broader Bolder Approach

ARLINGTON, Va. — PDK CEO Joshua Starr will become a co-chair of the Broader Bolder Approach to Education, a national campaign that acknowledges the impact of social and economic disadvantage on schools and students and proposes evidence-based policies to improve schools and remedy conditions that limit many children's readiness to learn.

Starr joins continuing co-chairs Helen F. Ladd and Pedro Noguera. Ladd is the Susan B. King professor of public policy studies and professor of economics at Duke University's Sanford School of Public Policy. She has been the organization's co-chair since its founding in 2008. Noguera is the Peter L. Agnew professor of education at New York University.

Broader Bolder Approach (www.bolderapproach.org) is based in Washington, D.C.
